Roadmap Elementary (5-11)

Goals

- Faith commitment & baptism. This is one of the biggest callings as a Christian parent.
- Build foundational theology. Learning about our God is more important than all of the essential subjects they will learn in school.

Know

- Growing in abstraction. Your child is starting to learn more abstract concepts. They can learn more abstract biblical concepts about God, their sin, etc.
- Fertile ground for faith. At this stage, your child will begin to understand the cost of sin, the need for cross and resurrection, and what it means to believe. Become a student of your child in how they are processing this so you can look for open doors for gospel conversations.
- Their body and biblical sexuality. Towards the end of elementary school, your child is either beginning the process of puberty or is surrounded by kids who are. This is also the time that many children are learning about sex, oftentimes from the internet or their friends. If you do not disciple them in this, the world will.

Do

- Continue the rhythms of family discipleship moments. Contextualize discipleship for their age, stage, learning style, and environment (younger or older siblings). Make it fun and engaging, and as they start to get older, you can get them involved by taking ownership (reading the Bible story, praying, etc.).
- Teach biblical sexuality. There is no prescribed age to do this, for every child is different. Towards the end of elementary school, many children are talking about puberty, sex, and even sexuality. They need you to teach them, so game plan with your spouse and start.
